

Bibliotheca PARLIAMENTI,

Libri, Theologici, Politici, Historici,

Qui præstant vœnales in Vico

vulgò vocato

L I T T L E B R I A R Y.

---

Done into English for the Assembly of Divines.

---

---

Printed at LONDON,

1653.

*****

Books to be sold in Little-Britain.

1. Les Gallia, Regni Gallorum; or, the Pax in folio, by Henry Martin, a dwindled Member in the Commons House.
2. Invandi formata; or, the Rolls of Pembroke's Oaths in folio.
3. Laus Pediculi. A short legg'd Treatise, wherein is held forth the struth, that because the six-footed creature walks gravely, and feeds majestically on our Heads, therefore we may trample on the Crown; by five Members and Kymbolton.
4. Experiens docet. A Tract proving that there is an hell, contrary to the present sense of the House: by a member thereof lately deceased.
5. Lux nova. A Christmase-candle, or a new light held forth last winter in Bridewel in Oxford, proving that darkness is better then light; by M. Goodwin, Master of Magd. Colledge.
6. Viam viae; or, a safe way for a man to save his life and lose his soul; by M. Jenkins, Minister of that word.
7. Theopædia. A Discourse shewing to us mortalls, that Cromwell may be reckoned amongst the gods, since he hath put off all humanity.
8. Virgarum Collector. Lilburn stripe and whipr, by Colonel Birch.
9. The art of hearing without ears; by Will. Prynne.
10. Coitus Melena; the way of getting women with child; by M. Scot, a knowing Member.

11. Vox Populi, or, the joymt opinion of the whole Kingdom of England, That the Parliament is hell, because the torments of it are like to be everlasting.

12. Pisces respirant. A Tract proving that Fishes breath, because Dr. Hill of Cambridge, when he should have preached, sate as mure as a fish; but sighed a whole Pulpit full.

13. Novum Chaos. Proving that rudis indigestaque moles in Ouid was a Prophecy of our Commonwealth.

14. Lex nova. A Tract wherein is proved, that although thou mayst not lie with another mans wife, yet thou mayst lie with thine own mans wife, by S.P.T.B.

15. Hucus Pocus. The art of Juelling in the Pulpit made plaine and easie, to the instruction of the present sucking Clergy in England: by Steph. Marshal, professor of the same.

16. Phaetonis Quadriga; or, a VVatch-word to the Generals Coach-man, wherein is this friendly whisper, That after drawing comes hanging: by Major-General Holborne.

17. Fire, fire. A small Manuall dedicated to Sir Arthur Hazelrig, wherein is plainly proved, by a whole Chauldron of Scripture, That John Lilburn will carry no coals; by Dr. Geuze.

18. The Resurrection from the grave proved by the Lord Wharton, in a book of his entituled Edge-hill, or, The Saw-pit.

19. Nodus Gordianus. An expedient way for knitting the Presbyterian and Independent together; by Gregory Brandon, late Minister of the Hempen City at Tyburn.

20. Pharmacopœia Aphæsodia; or, an excellent storehouse, wherein are contained many rare Experiments;

18. the cause and cure of the Presbyterian Itch in the tongue and ears, found out by Dr. .... of Hempsted, and printed by Abel Roper, for Gregory Brandon. 2. An excellent water to take away the inflammation of the nose and other parts, by Mrs. Lambert.

21. Vox, & pratera ushi. An answer to M. Carpenters Sermon and no Sermon, by Dr. Cheynel, a Preacher and no Preacher.

22. Vermis immortalis, or the sting of Conscience; a Tract of great concernment for this present State: sold by Cornelius Bee, at the Kings Arms in Little Britain.

23. Loquacis infantum lachrymae; or, the cry of Great Britain's little children against the Parliament for want of fire, and of John Taylor for want of water.

24. Stella nova. A Treatise of the new Star that led our wise Members out of the House; by Major-Gen. Harrison.

25. A garden of sweet flowers, or, a Senator in Souce-drink, by Alderman Aikins.

26. The art of multiplying, proving it lawfull for one man to entice away another mans wife; by Henry Hills, Printer to the Army.

27. The Pedlers profit. A Treatise concerning the turning of Bodkins and Thimbles into Swords; by Colonel Baxter.

Acts and Orders.

1. Ordered that Sir Henry Mildmay make a privy search in Alderman Aikin's breeches, for a rich Carbuncle which his Excellency lately lost from his nose.

2. Resolved upon the Question, That it is an high breach of Parliament to call the Pope Antichristian.

3. Or-

3. Ordered that the Lord Fairfax, in recompence of his faithful service to the State, be made Governor of all Sir Whinque Midway's Castles in the air.

4. That the Ministers which cannot pray and preach by the Spirit, shall live by the Air.

5. An Act for reformation of divers texts of Scripture of dangerous consequence, as being contrary to the very being of this Commonwealth, beginning at Rom. 13 where it is read; Let every soul be subject to the higher powers; which must hereafter be thus read: Let every soul be subject to the Lower House.

6. An Act forbidding any Nation to come and deliver us up to a milder captivity.

7. Ordered that Henry Marin hereafter keep but one company of Whores, his trading being likely to decrease.

8. Ordered that more Taxes be paid, because the Members have not left a mite in the publike Treasury.

9. Ordered that Henry Hills be one of the Armies Blood-hounds; to hunt after unlicensed Pamphlets; and that none come out without a License, by which mark you may know all Lyes and tame Non-sense.

10. Ordered that the two late Tracts, the one intituled Vox Plebis, or, The voice of the Commonwealth of England against their Oppressors; the other, The downfall of Dagon, be licensed, and entred into the Hall-book of the Company of Stationers.

Cases of Conscience.

1. Whether the Drunkenness of this Nation hath not provoked God to set a Brewer over us, with his Copper.

2. Whe-

whether we be not summe Baptists; since the greatest part of our devotion consists in praying to ~~Saints~~, in S. Almer, S. Hugh, Adewarus.

3. Whether or no the Army being Saints, yet in the flesh, can overcome the world and the devill, as well as they did the Members.

4. Whether Cromwel would not make a good Apothecary, seeing he gave the House so good a Clyster.

5. Whether we may speak truth freely, without being counted Traytors to the State.

6. Whether it be not just that M<sup>r</sup> Cut-purse B<sup>r</sup>: allowed an annual Stipend, since the Committees of Goldsmiths Hall, and Haberdashers Hall, have taken her trade out of her hands.

7. Whether the Low-Country States by their situation be neerer to hell then our Commonwealth.

8. Whether the Lord Grey of Groby did not learn of his father in the West to keep running horses.

9. Whether a man might not take White-hall for Moor-fields, Bedlam being so neer.

10. Whether the Prince of Conde be not an Epitome of our Parliament.

11. Whether it were not just Mr. Lov<sup>r</sup> should be without a head, since he was so earnest for a Parliament.

12. Whether Bermudas and the Parliament-house lie under one Planet, seeing both are haunted with vils.

13. Whether when Colonel Pride goes to quarter with Old N<sup>r</sup> ck with the Long Nails, the Prover<sup>r</sup> will not be verified, that Pride feels no cold.

14. VVhether the King of Denmark hath not hitherto de-

(6)

detained our Heitmen ware, to send it by messenger of his own.

15. VVhether the Parliament may not be damn'd, notwithstanding the Act of Indemnity.

16. VVhether a Parliament-man should not take the upper hand of the Devill when they sit next in Coun-cell, since he hath learned as much deceit.

17. VVhether we ought not to lament on the 30. of January, as well as to give thanks on the 5. of November.

18. VVhether it was not reason for Major-Generall
Harrison to marry his wife, having before broach'd the barrel.

F I N I S.

---

D
B 2964

25758

REPRODUCED FROM THE COPY IN THE

HENRY E. HUNTINGTON LIBRARY

FOR REFERENCE ONLY. NOT FOR REPRODUCTION